Dr. Justin Perez is a board-certified plastic surgeon and the Medical Director of Marina Plastic Surgery, a leading plastic surgery destination serving Los Angeles, Beverly Hills and beyond. He combines the latest in cutting-edge surgical technique and technologies with compassionate, patient-centered care for exceptional outcomes.

Ivy League educated, Dr. Perez studied at Weill Cornell Medical College in New York City and trained at the number one aesthetic fellowship in the country. A protégé of Dr. Grant Stevens—the pioneering founder of Marina Plastic Surgery—Dr. Perez has dedicated himself to building a thriving practice in Los Angeles. From facial rejuvenation to his signature drainless tummy tuck and complex aesthetic breast revisions, Dr. Perez prioritizes personalized treatment, catering to patients of all ethnicities, genders and backgrounds. His extensive contributions to the scientific literature on this subject include his recent writing on Latino rhinoplasty in Thieme's "Global Rhinoplasty" textbook.

Recently voted the #1 Best Cosmetic Surgeon on the Westside by the community he serves, the widely published Dr. Perez says, "It's important to keep pushing and evolving." With plans to expand Marina Plastic Surgery & MedSpa, he is excited about their involvement in the development of new aesthetic technologies, such as ongoing clinical trials for the latest cellulite reduction devices due early next year.

Remembering the words of his mentor, who emphasized that while Dr. Perez's practice is about aesthetic surgery, it's also about taking care of people, tending to their safety, their families and their feelings in times of vulnerability, he says, "I carry that with me every day, and it fuels my passion."
