Discounts for ZTP, ZTP-P (disabled licence) holders

The discount on the parking fee must be claimed when paying at the automatic cash register.

The National Theatre provides a discount to all holders of ZTP and ZTP-P cards (disabled licence holders), regardless of whether they have purchased a ticket for a National Theatre performance. The discount is provided by reducing the paid parking time by 3 hours upon presentation of the parking ticket, ZTP or ZTP-P card (disabled licence) and vehicle documents at the gatehouse in service building A, after which a discount coupon will be provided (i.e. when parking for 4 hours, the visitor will only pay for 1 hour of parking). The discount can be claimed at any time from the time the vehicle is parked to the time the parking fee is paid. Any discount claimed later will be refused. The visitor must scan their parking ticket at the automated payment machine, which will then display the original amount charged for parking. They must then scan the discount coupon and the amount to be paid will be corrected.

Fines and penalties

You must not park in spaces reserved for other users and disabled persons (ZTP, ZTP/P disabled licence holders).

Breaches of this rule are punishable by contractual penalties in the following amounts:

- unauthorised parking in spaces reserved for other users (NT, tenants, charging of electric cars) CZK 1,000 incl. VAT (per case)
- unauthorised parking in spaces reserved for disabled persons CZK 1,000 incl. VAT (per case)

In addition to the fines, such breach entitles the NT to terminate the contract for use of the car park with immediate effect. This means the contract or agreement for use of the car park will be terminated and the parking card blocked.

- Loss of parking ticket CZK 5,000 incl. VAT (per case)

The NT may waive the fine for losing a parking ticket if the car park user can provide proof of the moment they entered the car park and parked.

Such fines are without prejudice to the NT's right to compensation of damage resulting from a breach of the car park user's obligations. The obligation of the car park user to pay the parking fee, to comply with the operating rules of the National Theatre's underground car park and the contract or agreement negotiated with the National Theatre is not affected by such fines or their payment.
