PRODUCTION AREA

Clay red-brown soils, deeper and rich in iron and magnesium oxides, less alkaline. Due to their north-west exposure and high temperature ranges, Pinot Noir gives excellent results.

WINEMAKING

Manual harvest in the second half of August. Soft pressing of the grapes, static clarification of the must and vinification in steel.

TASTING

A wine with a soft pastel pink color. On the nose it has a complex bouquet of berries and wild strawberries, a freshness with an exact correspondence in the mouth where it reveals itself agile and sapid.

PAIRINGS

The perfect accompaniment for fish dishes and white meats, and as an aperitif with shellfish, beef carpaccio, and tuna.
