Potential Impact of Covid-19

Please provide a brief work plan modification that reflects any changes you might need to make to your study in the event it must be conducted virtually (contactless). Keep in mind that the changes must be scientifically sound and not significantly alter your your ability to achieve your stated aims. This section is optional, though recommended, and will NOT be scored, evaluated or influence any funding decision.The link at the end provides questions for research participants that have been developed by the COVID-19 International Suicide Prevention Research Collaboration to assist the research community in including questions about COVID-19 and it's impact. Both the disease itself and individual and community responses to the disease are influencing mental health, and more information is needed. While NOT required, we think it is important for researchers in suicide prevention to consider adding these questions to your study questionnaires, as feasible and appropriate. https://iasp.info/wp-content/uploads/ICSPRC_COVID_advice_on_questions.pdf
