

MODERN LUXURY PALM SPRINGS

FALL/WINTER 2021/2022

From top: Poolside at Parker Palm Springs; Jonathan Adler designed the resort's interiors; the newly renovated pool area at ARRIVE Palm Springs. Also new at the hotel is a freshly redesigned bar and restaurant, guest rooms and grounds.

...CONTINUED

PARKER PALM SPRINGS

As the world continues to slowly get back to "normal," Parker Palm Springs is following suit. This month marks the reopening of Palm Springs Yacht Club—the resort's wonderfully preppy spa—where restorative treatments start with a thimble of cucumber-infused vodka, natch, and a variety of indulgent packages—including the Guilty Pleasure, a three-hour sugar scrub, massage and classic facial combo; and the Perfect Potion, four and a half hours of a bliss-filled hot stone massage, a regenerating facial and a mani-pedi—are available. Also reopening in October is Mr. Parker's, the hotel's dark, sexy indoor restaurant that serves everything from a trio of duck to pistachio mille-feuilles. Cheers! Rooms from $829 per night, 4200 E. Palm Canyon Drive, Palm Springs, parkerpalmsprings.com

PHOTOS COURTESY OF BRANDS

ARRIVE PALM SPRINGS

Five years after its grand opening, ARRIVE Palm Springs has a whole new look. Although the entire property—from guest rooms to the bar and restaurant to the grounds—was refreshed, the most notable change can be seen in the pool area, where new poolside amenities include daybeds and lounge furniture adorned with custom fabric coverings, living room-esque lounge areas, cabanas and expanded outdoor dining areas. Meant to highlight the hotel's natural surroundings with a more textured, relaxed look and feel, the new design features lots of plants (succulents, cactuses) scattered about, shade-producing olive trees, a desert sunset color palette and more. Rooms from $225 per night, 1551 N Palm Canyon Drive, Palm Springs, arrivehotels.com

