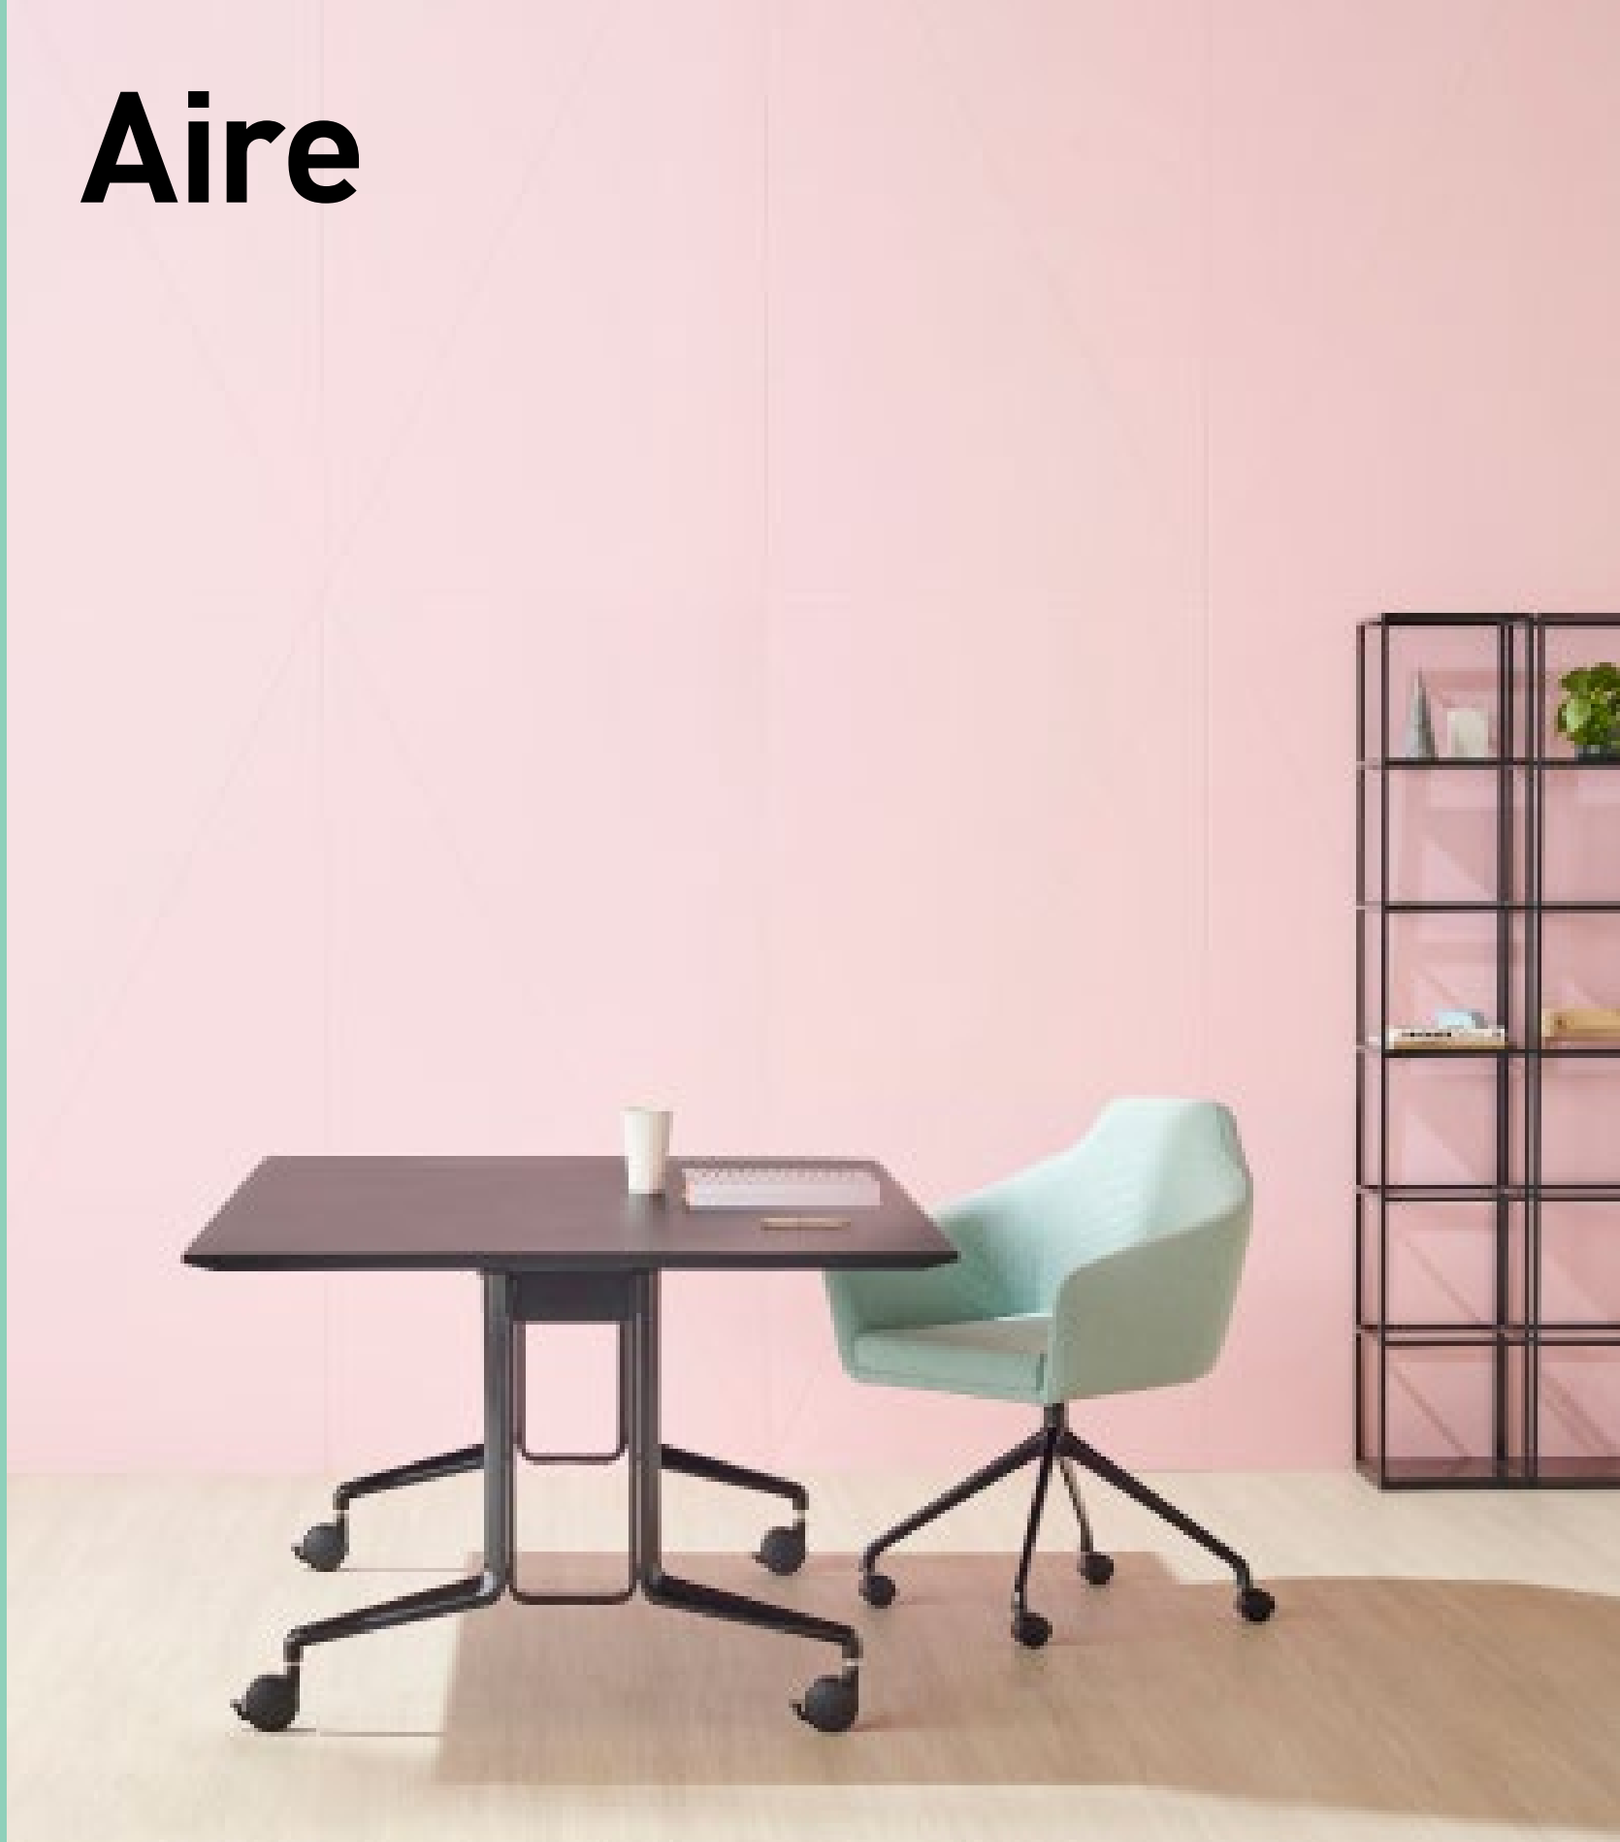
Aire



A symbol for unity[1]

The Aire collection is a light and adaptable range of tables and work benches. Synonymous to its design is a consistent design aesthetic, which supports the changing work landscape by providing flexibility in purpose.

Workplace landscapes

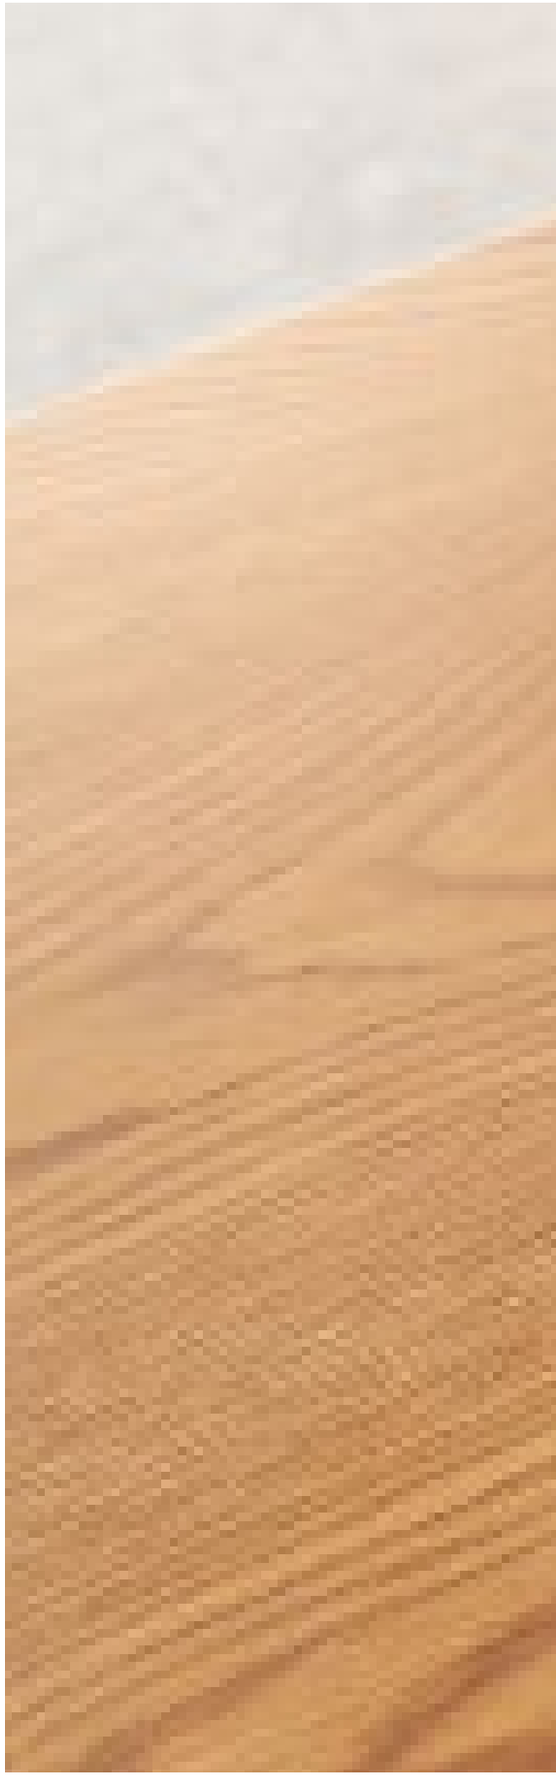
The Aire collection of work benches, meeting and fold tables was realised by Spanish designer Mario Ruiz in response to a progressive work landscape. Accommodating individual needs and team environments, Aire's flexible design and customisation abilities transform spaces to support an array of working philosophies, including collaboration, retreat, formal and informal communication, to name a few.

Connection through harmony

Aire's harmonious design aesthetic echoes throughout the range and encourages a sense of connection between the user and the physical space they reside. A sense of connection within a supportive team culture can elicit feelings of belonging, which research suggests encourages engagement and productivity – unifying the needs of both the organisation and the individual worker and enabling a purposeful relationship to exist between the two.

Elegant and functional



Aire's subtle cable management complements various electrification preferences by delicately enclosing wires within an upholstered mesh cover. The collection is compatible with a range of worktops, while panels, accessories and fold tables are available in meeting and training room settings.

Light aesthetic, strong performance

Sharing common geometry throughout the collection, Aire couples light dexterity with strong performance through high-quality aluminum and engineering. Splayed and straight leg options feature cast aluminium and steel support beams, able to support a 3m length top with only four legs. Aire's slender tabletops are available in soft edged radiuses or rectangular shapes and are available in a multitude of finishes, enabling visual customisation within various work settings.

A 315mm worktop overhang supports collaborative situations.

Couple Aire Work Benches with the Scope range of rails, above desk shelves and storage to support various user requirements.

A seamless understructure eliminates leg obstructions, providing a space for storage and work accessories.

Strong and lightweight aluminium legs and steel support beams allow Aire tabletops to span 3000mm (118") with only four legs.

Flexible design

Echoing the elegant and light profile known to the Aire collection, the Aire Fold Table offers a flexible solution to contemporary and agile-based working, training and meeting settings. Featuring a highly engineered tilt mechanism, the tabletop is able to conveniently and safely fold vertically after use. Additionally, four lockable castors make its slender form easy to move between aisles, doorways, elevators and into storage compartments.

Scope Accessory Rail

The Scope Accessory Rail attaches to any desk via a bracket, which is screwed into the worktop. Accessories such as Scope Shelves, Modesty Panels, Privacy Panels and power outlets attach to the Accessory Rail or clamp directly to the worktop, and can easily be changed and moved with minimal tools. The sleek and lightweight design avoids the dominating aesthetics often linked to systems panels and boosts functionality by giving users freedom to maximise valuable desk real estate.

Aire Media Stand

Bring audiovisual capabilities to the table with the Aire Media Stand. Weighted to hold virtually any screen up to 100kg, the unit is strong and longwearing. Despite this, it shares the elegant and lightweight design language synonymous with the Aire collection.

Every detail has been considered. Four large castors combine with handles to make moving the stand effortless. Meanwhile, the unit's tabletop leaves space to rest a tablet or laptop, while a cable cubby keeps all cables tidy and out of the way.
