

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR SALE OF PETROLEUM PRODUCTS – SPECIAL FUELS

(Applicable from 26 September 2025)

1. Applicability

These provisions shall apply to supply contracts/agreements (hereinafter the “agreement”) between Preem AB (publ), company registration number 556072-6977, (hereinafter the “Seller”) and the purchaser (hereinafter the “Purchaser”) unless the parties have agreed, in writing, on terms that deviate from these terms and conditions.

2. Modification of terms and conditions

These general terms and conditions shall remain in force until further notice and the Seller shall be entitled to modify these terms and conditions on thirty (30) days’ notice. Information to the Purchaser regarding the modifications shall be provided on the Seller’s website, www.preem.se, and/or in another appropriate manner. By ordering products as from the stated date of applicability, the Purchaser accepts the new terms and conditions. If the Purchaser does not accept the new terms and conditions, the Purchaser shall be entitled to terminate the agreement.

In the event the conditions on which the agreement is based materially change due to events beyond a party’s control or the conditions are otherwise insufficient and the terms and conditions of the agreement become unreasonably burdensome or detrimental to a party, the party shall be entitled to demand renegotiation of the agreed terms and conditions. Any such demand shall be made in writing, stating the reasons on which the party bases its demand for renegotiation of the terms and conditions of the agreement. In the event that the parties are unable to agree in conjunction with any subsequent negotiations for adjustment within one (1) month from the date on which a party demanded renegotiation, either party shall be entitled to terminate the agreement on two (2) months’ notice of termination.

3. Quotation

Unless otherwise specified in the quotation, all quotations are valid for the duration of the business day.

4. Price changes

In addition to that which otherwise applies in respect of price adjustments pursuant to the agreement, where, as a result of icy conditions or other traffic disruptions affecting the product’s transport route, the Seller is unable to complete the agreed delivery without incurring significant extra costs, the Seller shall be entitled to claim such additional costs from the Purchaser for the duration of the impediment.

5. Premature termination of the agreement

Either party shall be entitled to terminate the agreement in writing, with immediate effect, and/or immediately limit its performance under the agreement, where:

- a) the other party breaches any provision of the agreement and, where the breach can be cured, fails to cure the breach within fifteen (15) days despite a written demand to do so;
- b) the other party breaches a material provision of the agreement, or where there is any circumstance which jeopardises the due performance of the other party’s obligations under the agreement; or
- c) the other party suspends its payments, commences company reorganisation, commences composition proceedings, is placed into bankruptcy or files for bankruptcy, is placed into insolvent liquidation, or can otherwise be deemed to be insolvent.

The Seller shall at all times be entitled to terminate the agreement with immediate effect and/or immediately limit its performance under the agreement where, in the Seller’s opinion: (i) the Purchaser fails to perform, or there is reasonable cause to believe that the Purchaser will fail to perform, its obligations under the agreement; (ii) the ownership structure of the Purchaser directly or indirectly changes in a manner which cannot reasonably be accepted; or (iii) the Purchaser, in whole or in part, divests or otherwise changes the focus of its business in a manner which alters the conditions for continued cooperation.

In the event of grounds for premature termination of the agreement, the Seller shall be entitled to declare all debts, or parts thereof, and all other outstanding amounts, to be immediately due and payable.

Notice of termination of the agreement must be made in writing.

6. Credit

The granted credit limit may not be exceeded. In the event the credit limit is exceeded, the Purchaser shall immediately pay, on the Seller’s demand, any outstanding invoices (regardless of due date) to the extent necessary to reduce the debt to an amount corresponding, at a maximum, to the applicable credit limit.

Renewed credit checks are carried out on a regular basis and the Seller reserves the right to increase or decrease the credit limit based on the Purchaser's financial status or other relevant circumstances. In the event that the Seller is of the opinion that there has been a significant deterioration in the Purchaser's creditworthiness, or if the Purchaser, on repeated occasions, fails to stay within the credit limit granted by the Seller, the Seller shall be entitled to terminate the agreement with immediate effect and/or immediately limit its performance under the agreement. Upon the Seller's request, the Purchaser shall lodge additional satisfactory security, in the form of bank guarantees, sureties, floating charges and/or mortgages, for its credit and/or other current and future undertakings and obligations under the agreement.

Upon the Seller's request, the Purchaser shall provide interim accounts or audited annual accounts or other relevant financial information to enable the Seller to monitor the Purchaser's creditworthiness. Such information shall be provided to the Seller without delay, and under no circumstances later than thirty (30) days from the date of Preem's request for such information.

7. Tax

The Purchaser shall be responsible for providing correct information to the Seller, from time to time, regarding the Purchaser's reporting obligation for taxes. The Purchaser shall submit its VAT registration number in ample time prior to delivery or collection. The Seller reserves the right to deny a request from the Purchaser to change its VAT registration number after delivery or collection.

In the event the Purchaser wishes reduced excise duty rates or an excise duty exemption due to the Purchaser being an approved warehouse keeper, or due to excise duty exempted for a specific use or deferral procedure pursuant to the Energy Tax Act (1994:1776), or an exemption under the Value Added Tax Act (2023:200) and thereby can or must be invoiced without, or with a reduction in tax, the Purchaser shall be obligated, vis-à-vis the Seller, no later than in ample time prior to delivery or collection, to prove that the suitable conditions exist for reduced excise duty rates, excise duty exemption or VAT exemption exist and provide the Seller with the necessary documentation. In the event the necessary documentation is not provided to the Seller within the time stated above, it shall be the Purchaser's responsibility to apply, retroactively, to the Swedish Tax Agency or other body as applicable, for any excise duty exemption, deduction, or refund. The Purchaser may not make any retroactive claim to the Seller in respect of reduced excise duty rates, excise duty exemption or VAT exemption in conjunction with invoicing.

For deliveries within Sweden where the Seller transports products (as covered by chapter 11, section 3 of the Value Added Tax Act (2023:200)) to the Purchaser's tax warehouse, invoicing shall be made without any VAT due to exemptions under chapter 11 of the Value Added Tax Act (2023:200). The sale is confirmed as not intended for final use or consumption unless the Purchaser objects to the invoice during the month of the transaction in question. Final use or consumption shall have the meaning as defined in chapter 11, section 5 of the Value Added Tax Act (2023:200).

In the event the Purchaser is invoiced without tax or with a reduction in tax, the Purchaser shall be responsible, vis-à-vis the Seller, to notify the Seller without delay in the event of any change to the conditions for invoicing in accordance with a excise duty exemption or VAT exemption.

In the event products are collected during a deferral at the Seller's depot, all collection shall take place at the place of direct delivery pursuant to the Energy Tax Act (1994:1776) which the Purchaser has registered with the Swedish Tax Agency. The Purchaser is responsible to the Seller for submitting documentation in ample time prior to delivery or collection that proves a valid certificate of the place of direct delivery issued by authorized authority. The certificate must be no more than one (1) year old. If the required documentation is not received by the Seller within the time stated above, the Purchaser cannot subsequently make any demands or claims on the Seller regarding reduced excise duty rates or excise duty exemption in connection with invoicing. In addition to the above, a Purchaser which is a warehouse keeper according to the Energy Tax Act (1994:1776) shall, once a calendar year, provide the Seller with an updated certificate regarding its registered tax warehouses and direct delivery locations. A Purchaser, which is a stockist according to the Energy Tax Act (1994:1776), must once a calendar year provide the Seller with an updated certificate showing that the Purchaser is a stockist according to the Energy Tax Act (1994:1776). In addition to the above, a Purchaser which is an approved excise duty exempt fuel user under the Energy Tax Act (1994:1776) must submit documentation that substantiates a valid certificate. The certificate must be no more than one (1) year old.

In the event the products are delivered during a deferral through registration in EMCS (Excise Movement Control System), the Purchaser shall register the receipt in EMCS not later than twenty-four (24) hours after receipt of the delivery. In the event the products are transported to a location outside of Sweden by the Purchaser or a carrier retained by the Purchaser, the Purchaser shall before delivery inform the Seller that the products are to be exported and who will carry out the transport. In addition, the Purchaser shall, not later than seven (7) days after the products have arrived in the country of destination, and otherwise at the Seller's request, provide the Seller with documentation which verifies that the products have left Sweden.

If the required documentation is not received by the Seller within the time specified, the Seller has the right to invoice the Purchaser in arrears for value added tax and other from time to time applicable taxes in SEK/m³, as well as applicable customs duties.

The Seller shall always be entitled to invoice the Purchaser, in arrears, for value added tax and other from time to time applicable taxes in SEK/m³, as well as applicable customs duties. The Purchaser shall also hold the Seller harmless from damage or loss, including, but not limited to, any interest, tax surcharge and other costs incurred by the Seller due to the Purchaser's breach of the obligations in this clause.

In the event the Purchaser breaches the provisions of this clause, the Seller shall be entitled to terminate the agreement with immediate effect and/or limit its performance under the agreement.

8. Delivery

Delivery shall be made following an order within the time agreed. Orders must be made by email to specialfuels@preem.se. An order is binding on the Seller only to the extent, and at the time, stated in the order confirmation (acceptance).

Unless otherwise stated in the agreement, the products are delivered FCA Seller's depot (INCOTERMS 2020). In the event the Seller is to provide transport to facilities designated by the Purchaser, freight costs shall be paid in accordance with the Seller's rates as per the price list applicable from time to time. The Seller shall be entitled to retain sub-contractors to carry out transport.

9. Complaints

The Purchaser must notify the Seller, in writing and without unreasonable delay, of any defects or deficiencies in any delivered product after the Purchaser discovers, or should have discovered, the defect or deficiency and, under no circumstances, later than within one (1) month after completed delivery. Where the Seller has not received written notice of such defect or deficiency within the aforementioned time, the Purchaser shall forfeit the right to demand compensation for the defect or deficiency. The Purchaser shall, following consultation with the Seller, ensure that a representative and reliable sample of the product to which the complaint pertains is taken for later analysis.

10. Liability

The Purchaser shall, in all reasonable ways, cooperate such that the Seller can perform its obligations under the agreement. The Purchaser shall ensure, inter alia, that necessary instructions are issued in respect of the design, receiving capacity, volume, and so forth, of the receiving facility, and that the receiving facility satisfies any and all applicable specifications and safety regulations issued from time to time by public authorities. The Purchaser is also responsible for ensuring that the Purchaser's tanks have capacity for the ordered quantity.

The Purchaser shall ensure that the delivery site and unloading site are accessible for delivery and that the tank is not situated more than thirty-five (35) meters from the tank truck's parking place. The Purchaser shall also ensure that, during the winter, the access to the delivery site and unloading site is cleared of snow and gritted, and in all other aspects is suitable for receiving the delivery. Any damage resulting from the Purchaser's omissions in this respect shall be compensated by the Purchaser. Costs incurred as a consequence of an inability to fully deliver the ordered quantity shall be paid by the Purchaser.

The Seller shall not be liable for any damage caused by the incompatibility of the delivered product with the products located at the Purchaser's facility at the time of delivery, unless the mixing of the products was expressly approved by the Seller.

The Seller shall under no circumstances be liable for any indirect loss including, but not limited to, loss of production, consequential loss, downtime compensation, loss of profit, loss of goodwill and capital losses. However, the Seller shall be liable for repair costs for the tank, furnace, machine or vehicle in which the Purchaser has stored or used the delivered product, in case of gross negligence or wilful misconduct.

The Seller's liability shall at all times be limited to SEK one (1) million per event of loss. "Event of loss" means all damage based on the same cause.

11. Limitations regarding the use and transport onwards of the Seller's range of products

The Seller's products may only be used for the purpose(s) mentioned in the safety data sheets (available at www.preem.se). Under no circumstances may the products be used as fuel for aeroplanes or helicopters, or as lubricants or chemicals for such means of transport.

Transportation by sea: Following loading/delivery of the product, the Purchaser may not transfer the product from a tank truck/tank for transport onwards by a boat or ship/vessel that does not meet the Seller's rules regarding vetting of sea vessels applicable from time to time.

In the event the Purchaser breaches the provisions of this clause, the Seller shall be entitled to terminate the agreement with immediate effect.

12. Force Majeure

In respect of the Purchaser, the Seller shall be entitled, and subject to no obligation to pay compensation, to cancel, restrict, or postpone deliveries to the extent the performance thereof is rendered impossible, or materially impeded or rendered more expensive, due to circumstances beyond the Seller's control, such as war, warlike events, riots and unrest, extreme weather conditions, impassable roads, disruptions to public communications, disruptions to computer or telecommunications networks, lack of tonnage, general shortages of goods, export or import restrictions, legal regulations or other orders from Swedish or foreign public authorities, its own or another's strikes, lockouts, blockades or other labour market impediments, fire, explosion, or other accident. The foregoing shall also apply to comparable events at levels preceding the Seller/the Seller's subcontractors.

In respect of the Seller, the Purchaser shall be entitled, and subject to no obligation to pay compensation, to cancel, restrict, or postpone receipt of delivery to the extent that receipt is rendered impossible, or materially impeded or rendered more expensive, due to circumstances beyond the Purchaser's control as referred to in the preceding paragraph.

A party wishing to invoke a force majeure event shall notify the other party without delay and, upon cessation of the force majeure event, shall notify the other party. The reservation in respect of strikes, lockouts, blockades or other labour market impediments shall also apply where the parties themselves take or are the subject of such measures.

13. Confidentiality

The parties undertake, in perpetuity, not to disclose to third parties: (i) the existence or contents of any arbitral award related to the agreement; (ii) any information regarding negotiations, arbitral proceedings or mediation related to the agreement; or (iii) other confidential information which a party received in connection with the agreement. Confidential information means any and all information – technical, commercial, or of another nature – regardless of whether the information is documented, with the exception of information which the party can show:

- a) entered the public domain other than by breach of the undertakings in the agreement;
- b) was available to the recipient on a non-confidential basis before the information was provided to it by the other party;
- c) became available to the recipient party through a party who, in turn, was not bound by any confidentiality undertaking;
- d) must be released by the party pursuant to law or in order to comply with a public authority or court order.

In cases referred to in c) above, the receiving party is not, however, entitled to reveal to any third party that the same information has been received from the other party.

14. Assignment/pledging

The Purchaser may not assign the agreement, or any rights and/or obligations hereunder, without the Seller's prior written consent. The Seller may assign the agreement, and its rights and/or obligations hereunder, including the right to payment, to a third party. In accordance with the above, it is noted that the Seller has assigned its claims under the agreement, and the Purchaser will only have satisfied the Purchaser's obligation to pay any receivable arising under the agreement by paying in accordance with the details which the Purchaser is notified of in the Seller's invoices.

15. Entire agreement, modifications and supplements

The agreement and its appendices fully govern all issues to which the agreement relates. All written or oral undertakings and promises which preceded the agreement are replaced by this agreement and its appendices. In order to be binding, modifications of, and supplements to, the agreement must be in writing and signed by the parties. Modifications of these general terms and conditions are valid between the parties in the manner set forth in clause 2 above.

16. Severability

The complete or partial invalidity of any provision of the agreement or any part thereof shall not invalidate the agreement in its entirety. Instead, to the extent the invalidity has a material impact on a party's rights or obligations under the agreement, an adjustment shall take place.

17. Processing of personal data

The Purchaser accepts that the Seller and its subsidiaries collect and register personal data (including information obtained from credit rating agencies). The Seller is responsible for the processing of any and all personal data regarding the Purchaser and its purchases which forms the basis for purchasing, invoicing, and ledger processing within the parameters of this agreement. The Purchaser further consents to the aforementioned information being processed and analysed by the Seller and its cooperation partners for marketing purposes. The purpose of the aforementioned processing is to enable the Seller, inter alia, to direct personal offers regarding the Seller's products and services. The data is saved for the duration of the customer relationship. Data may be used for marketing purposes also after termination of the customer relationship, in accordance with Preem's Privacy Policy. Processing of personal data also takes place through various service companies which, on the Seller's behalf, handle registration, invoicing, and other administration, and may also cover the Seller's subsidiaries and companies with which the Seller has cooperation agreements, e.g. for bonus systems and customer offers. If required by a public authority, the Seller may have an obligation to disclose the data requested by the public authority. Personal data may be cross-checked against other registers in order to update and provide information which is a condition for good customer and register care, e.g. Statens Personadressregister (SPAR).

By writing to Preem AB (publ), DPO, 112 80 Stockholm, or by sending an email to dpo@preem.se, the Purchaser may request that personal data be corrected or deleted. The Purchaser may also submit written notice to the Seller if the Purchaser does not want data to be used for direct marketing purposes. Information about how Preem is processing personal data can be found in Preem's Privacy Policy available at www.preem.se/integritetspolicy.

18. Arbitration and governing law

The agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Sweden, excluding its conflict of laws principles. Any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of or in connection with the agreement, or the breach, termination or invalidity thereof, shall be finally settled by arbitration administered by the SCC Arbitration Institute (the "SCC"). The Rules for Expedited Arbitrations shall apply, unless the SCC in its discretion determines, taking into account the complexity of the case, the amount in dispute and other circumstances, that the Arbitration Rules shall apply. In the latter case, the SCC shall also decide whether the Arbitral Tribunal shall be composed of one or three arbitrators. The seat of arbitration shall be Stockholm. The arbitral proceedings shall be held in English. For the avoidance of doubt, the Seller shall, however, be entitled to bring legal proceedings in a court of general jurisdiction or before a public authority in respect of claims for completed deliveries or in connection with costs incurred in conjunction therewith.
