

At Hayes Valley Medical Esthetics (HVME), San Francisco and Marin residents experience a distinctly elevated approach to facial rejuvenation—one shaped by the vision, expertise, and artistic precision of Linda Behla, RN. With more than 20 years in aesthetic medicine, Behla has become widely recognized as a leader in innovation, known for setting the standard for natural, refined results that stand the test of time.

Renowned for her discerning eye and forward-thinking approach, Behla is often among the first to introduce new technologies and modalities—carefully curating the most advanced devices and treatments available in aesthetic medicine. Her philosophy blends an intuitive understanding of facial balance with cutting-edge science, from collagen-stimulating technologies to highly precise injectable techniques. Patients trust her conservative, intentional approach—enhancing features while preserving individuality and supporting long-term skin health.

HVME is a boutique, owner-operated medical spa specializing in advanced, non-surgical aesthetic treatments for the face and body. Offerings include injectables, laser and energy-based technologies, body contouring, customized facials, and the highly sought-after Ulthera Prime™—all selected and overseen by Behla to ensure the highest level of safety, efficacy, and results.

With three thoughtfully curated locations in Cow Hollow, Hayes Valley, and Larkspur, HVME makes prioritizing skin health both effortless and accessible—setting a refined benchmark for beauty and wellness throughout the Bay Area.

Artistry. Precision. Results.
