Fieldwork Dates

Data Collection Method

The survey was conducted via online panel.

Different response rates from different demographic groups were taken into account.

Population Sampled

Adults aged 18+ in the UK

Sample Size

1,053

Data Weighting

Data is weighted to the profile of the population of the United Kingdom.

Data is weighted by respondent's sex, age, region, ethnicity, household income, qualification, employment, and socioeconomic group.

Targets for the weighted data are derived from the ONS.

Margin of Error

Because only a sample of the full population was interviewed, all results are subject to margin of error, meaning that not all differences are statistically significant. For example, in a question where 50% of respondents (the worst case scenario as far as margin of error is concerned) gave a particular answer, with a sample of 1,053 it is 95% certain that the 'true' value will fall within the range of 4.53% from the sample result. Subsamples from cross-breaks will be subject to higher margin of error. Conclusions drawn from crossbreaks with very small sub-samples should be treated with caution.

Question presentation

All tables are shown in full, in the order and wording put to respondents.

In all questions where the responses are a list of statements, these will typically have been displayed to respondents in a randomising order.

The only questions which would not have had randomising responses would be those in which there was a natural order to maintain

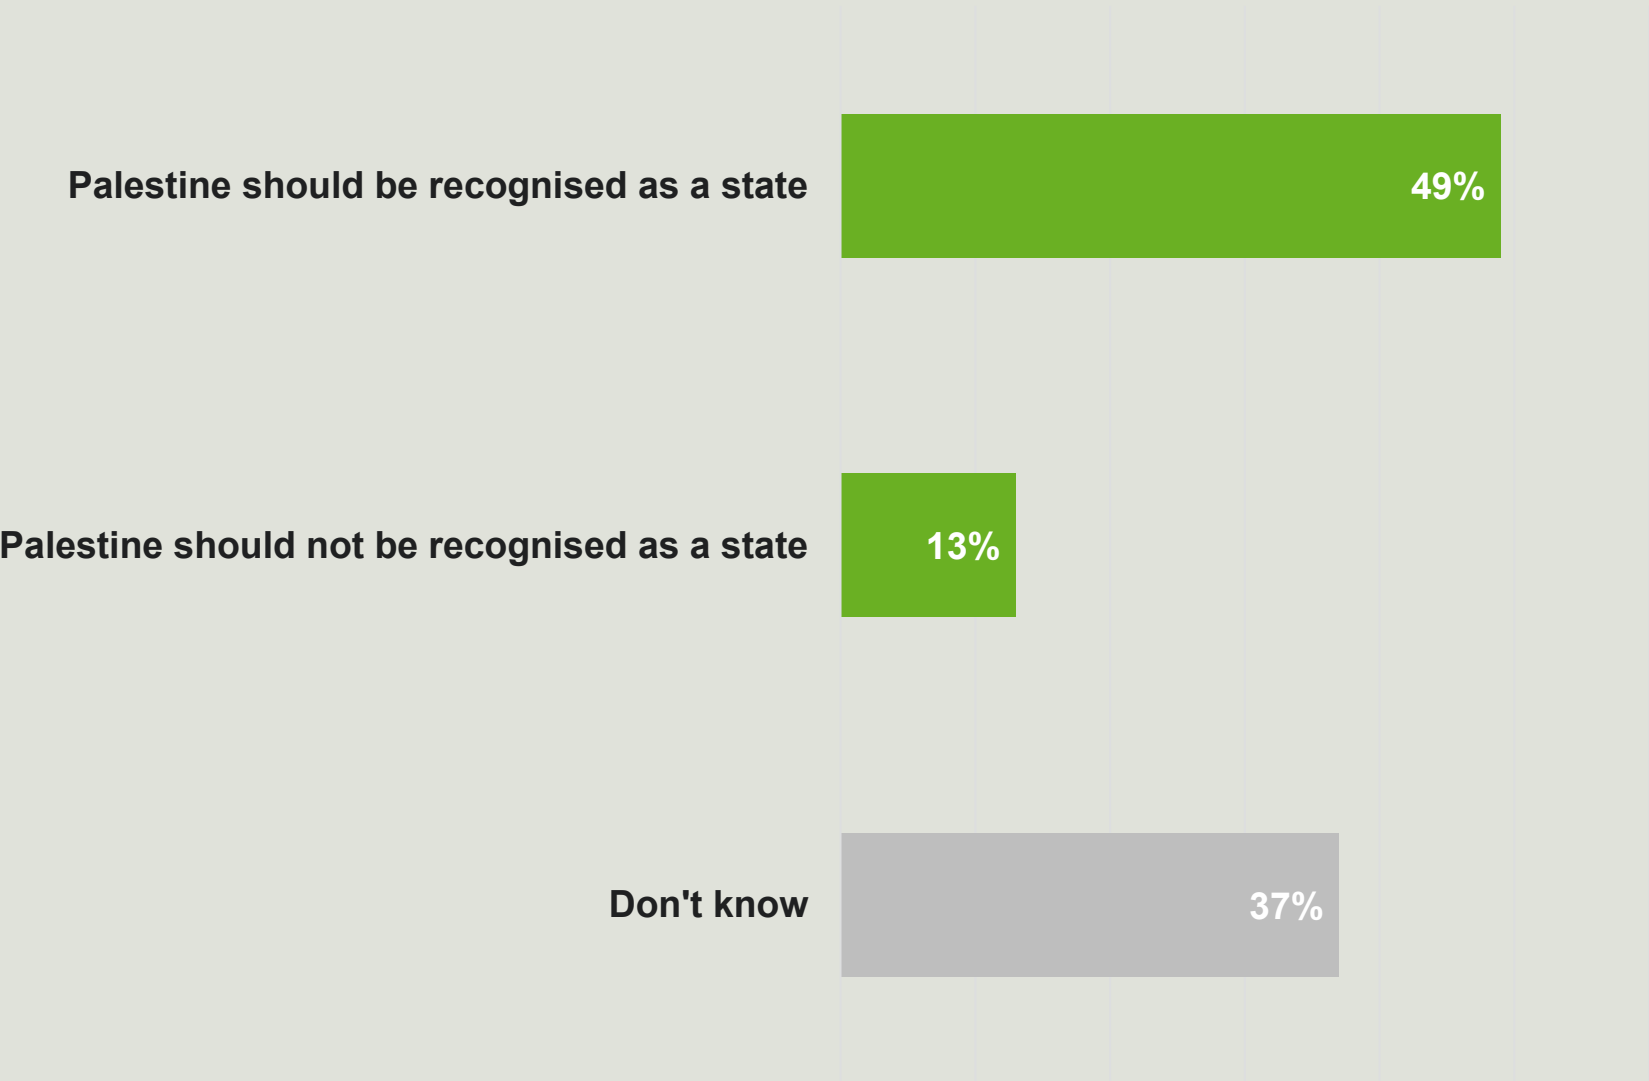

– e.g. a list of numbers from 0 to 10. "Other" and "Prefer not to say" options are not randomised.

Not all questions will have necessarily been asked to all respondents. They may be follow-on questions from previous questions or only appropriate to certain groups.

Lower response counts should make clear where this has occurred.

Data was collected, analysed, and weighted by Survation.
