

HARD HAT COURAGE

CONFRONTING SUICIDE in the CONSTRUCTION COMMUNITY

The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) partners with organizations across the construction industry to tap into the power of community connection and peer support to improve mental health and reverse high rates of suicide in construction. Together, we are supporting the industry's cultural shift towards prioritizing mental health and building a lasting infrastructure for systemic change.

Education & Training to Prioritize Mental Health in the Workplace

Partners are trained by AFSP to deliver AFSP's flagship educational programs and supported through consultations with AFSP's suicide prevention experts, program marketing tools, and access to a growing library of self-guided training resources.

PREVENT SUICIDE

Talk Saves Lives: An Introduction to Suicide Prevention in the Construction Industry

Available as a 20-minute or 60-minute presentation, Talk Saves Lives: Construction provides an overview of suicide in the construction industry, risk factors – including those unique to construction – and warning signs of suicide, and strategies to prevent it. Presenting this education across your workforce allows even more people to spot the warning signs, start a conversation, and save lives.

NAVIGATE LOSS

Caring Communities: Guidance for Supporting Survivors of Suicide Loss

AFSP's newest flagship program is designed to help participants understand the impact of suicide on loss survivors and provide support within the construction workplace following a loss. This also includes resources for loss survivors and those providing support.

Interested in becoming an AFSP partner and receiving training? Contact us at construction@afsp.org.