

CHARACTER INVESTIGATION

Readers pay attention to the characters in stories. They notice how they act, how they speak, what they say and what they think. This information can then be used to suggest how a character feels.

Use the table below to record information about the characters from your reading.

Actions: What does the character do?	Words: What does the character say?	Thoughts: What does the character think?
What do these actions, words and thoughts tell us about the character's feelings?
