Cross-Marketing Offer for Overseas Companies Promoting Wine

Over the past two editions, Sélections Mondiales des Vins Canada has set up cross-marketing promotions with several companies promoting wine, aimed at the export market.

The objective was to bring together producers from a country, region or appellation, and thus facilitate their participation by giving them several significant advantages, including:

- a 20% discount on registration fees;
- a discount of more than 50% on transport and customs costs;
- the presentation of the winning wines during a post-competition event taking place in the Quebec market. This innovative promotional approach aims to allow wine regions to stand out and promote the quality of their products, both in North America and internationally.
