

Leading Women in Business - Westchester & Fairfield

Gabrielle Pino, PA-C, has become one of the region's most sought-after aesthetic providers, and for good reason.

She's been nationally recognized as a "Most Loved Injector", a top trainer for those pursuing a field in plastic surgery and aesthetics, and most recently winner of Aesthetic Practice of the Year, 2020 United States. As owner of Privá MedSpa of Fairfield, Gabrielle believes that her patients can feel confident that their treatments will be performed with meticulous care, attention to detail, and bringing out the best of their natural beauty. The goal is to exceed expectations in personal care and results.

"When I first started my career in aesthetics, the biggest things on the market were Botox and fillers, but there's so much more we can do to help our patients reach their goals," says Gabrielle.

Offering services like radiofrequency microneedling, laser skin resurfacing, body contouring, and more, Gabrielle and her team at Privá Medspa work with patients to create a plan that fits within their lifestyle and their budget.

"Everyone is unique, and our focus is to provide customized, effective results with limited downtime," says Gabrielle. "Patients often come to our office and request a procedure they have in mind, but there may be a better option, so we are here to guide them in the right direction and toward realistic and natural goals. We provide beauty treatments, but as a medical practice, safety always comes first."
