Fire

A fireplace with a contemporary twist on the traditional campfire, designed by acclaimed Barcelona-based designer Hiroshi Tsunoda.

Echoing Hiroshi's signature style of geometric figures, Stix consists of varying-sized tubular stainless steel 'sticks', creating a visually striking and practical fire for indoor and alfresco environments. A stylishly elegant and practical hearth for lovers of outdoor (and indoor) living.

Key Features

Campfire with a Twist

Contemporary stainless steel fire design that evokes the mood and magnetism of a traditional campfire.

Simply Situated

Fully portable with no need for a utility connection, effortlessly set up and easily repositioned, Stix's bright flame will keep you captivated as well as comfortable for over 8 hours.

No Fumes, No Smoke

The Stix concept still guards to the traditional warmth of fire, but without the mess. Powered by clean-burning, environmentally-friendly bioethanol.

Award Winning

Winner of the Good Design Award 2011, Australian International Design Awards; DesignEx Best New Product 2011; USA's 2011 IIDA/HD Award for Excellence.
