

Make art with the Art Gallery of New South Wales and Brett Whiteley

Art Gallery
NSW

Do you love to draw and paint?

Artists love to create.
Brett Whiteley's house overlooked Sydney Harbour.
He loved to paint the boats floating on the water and the landmarks he could see from his balcony.

above: Brett Whiteley
Grey harbour c1978, oil and charcoal on canvas, Art Gallery of
New South Wales,
Brett Whiteley Estate
© Wendy Whiteley/
Copyright Agency.
Photo: © AGNSW

We acknowledge the Gadigal of the Eora Nation, the traditional custodians of the Country on which the Art Gallery of New South Wales
stands.

Have you ever been to Sydney Harbour and noticed the colour of the water and how it changes with the weather?

Add more colours and floating boats to the drawing on the next page.

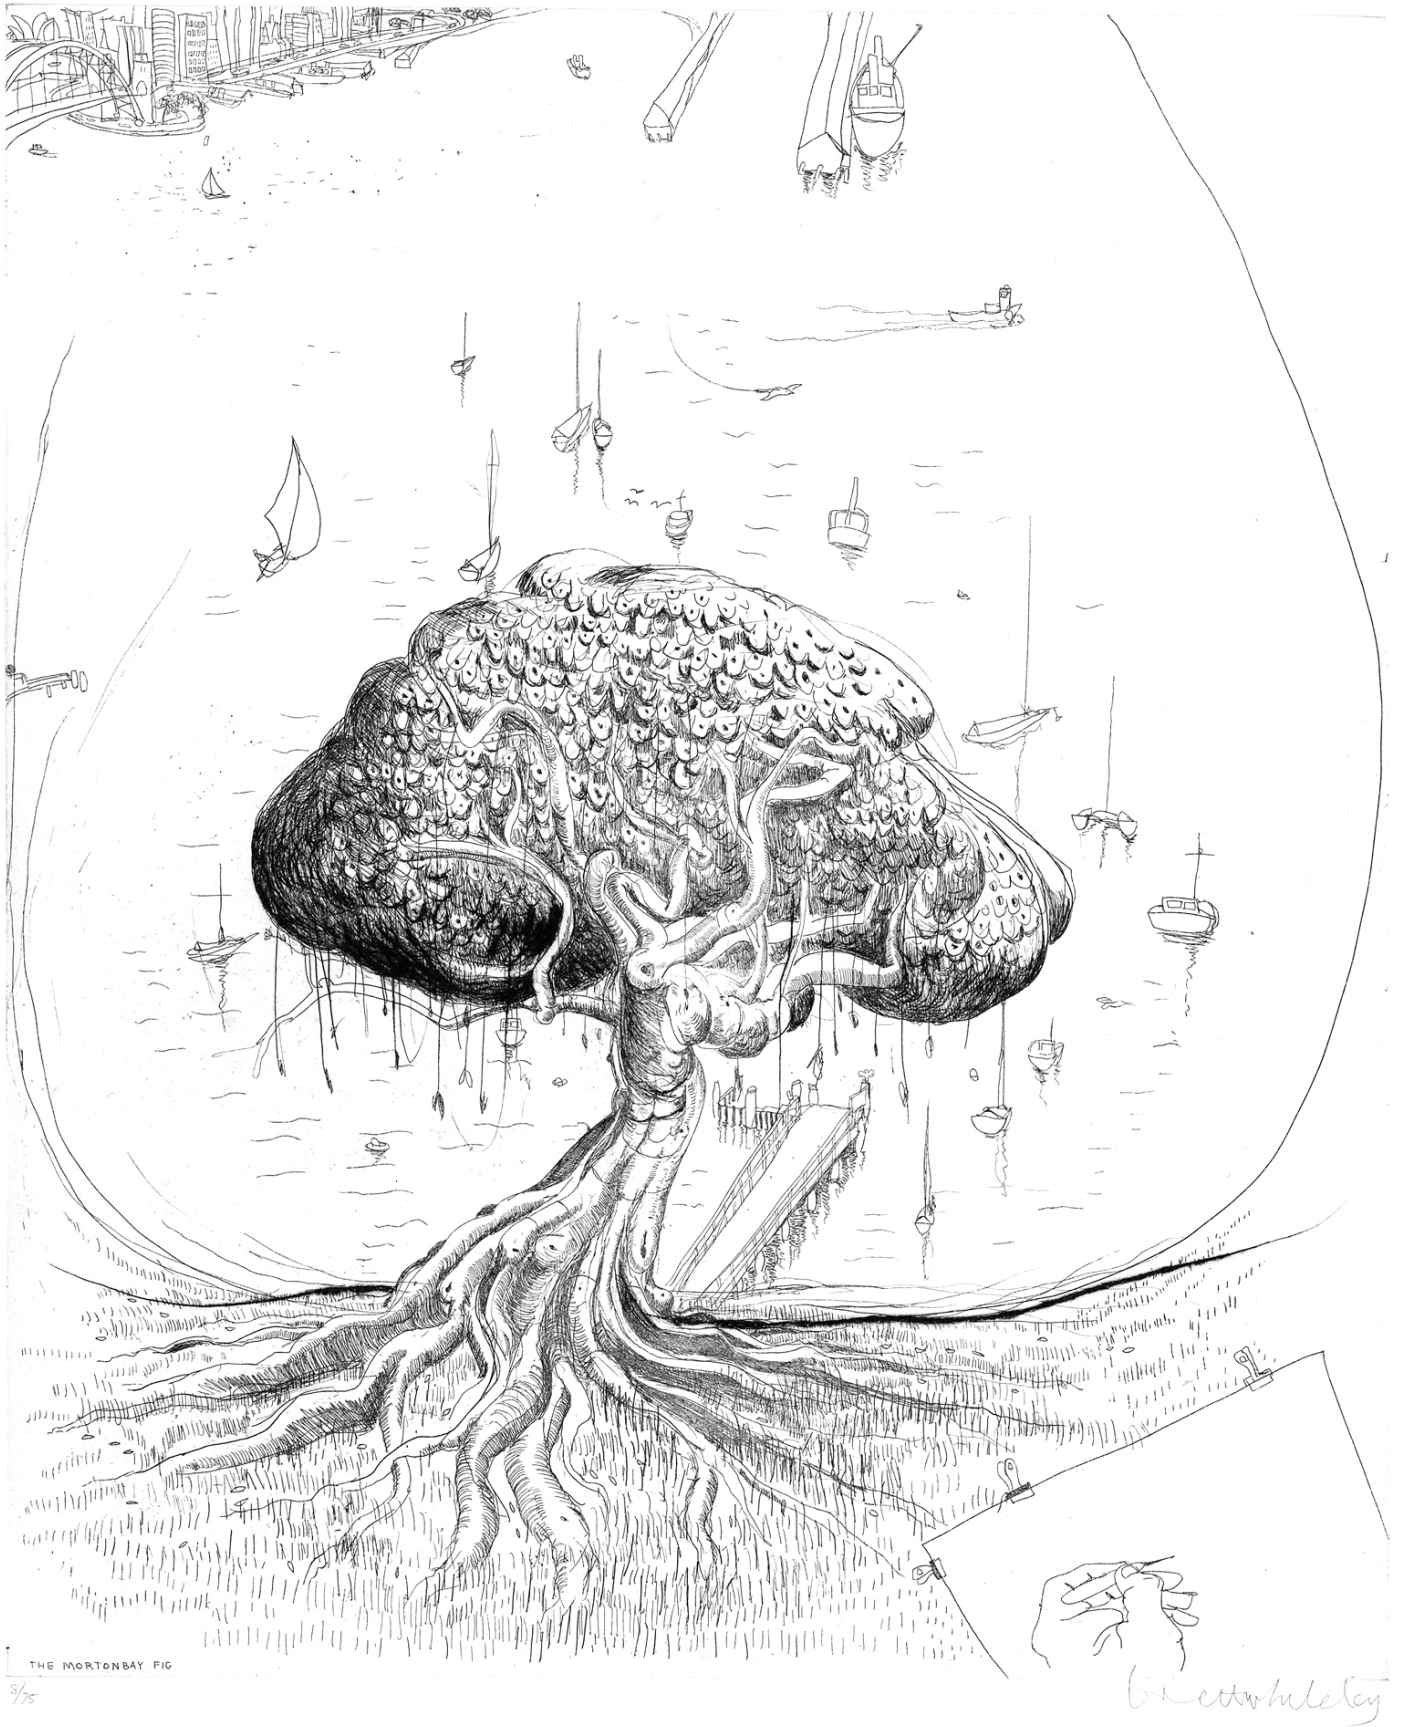

Harbour views

top and cover (detail): Brett Whiteley Sydney Harbour 1980, screenprint, printed with black ink on paper, Art Gallery of New South Wales, Brett Whiteley Estate; The balcony 2 1975, oil on canvas, Art Gallery of New South Wales, purchased 1981.

All works © Wendy Whiteley/
Copyright Agency.
Photos: © AGNSW

You will need:
Pencil
Paint, coloured markers or colouring pencils
Your imagination!

above: Brett Whiteley
The Moreton Bay fig 1979, etching and drypoint, Art Gallery of New South Wales, Brett Whiteley Estate © Wendy Whiteley/Copyright Agency.
Photo: © AGNSW