Legendary Stories: Leonardo da Vinci to Murakami

The Hiroshima Panels, Toshi and Iri Maruki

Dr Mikala Tai

Toshi and Iri Maruki, II Fire (火, Hi), 1950

Lecture summary

Revisit The Hiroshima panels, a series by Japanese husband and wife duo Toshi and Iri Maruki that they began in 1950 and completed in 1982. Delve into the artistry behind the panels, which depict the consequences of the 1945 atomic bombing of Hiroshima in vivid painterly horror. Trace how the compelling humanity of these works influenced Australia both culturally and politically, and discover the role the Art Gallery of New South Wales had in helping rebuild Australia's post-war relationship with Japan through an exhibition of some of the early panels in 1958.

Mikala Tai is a curator, researcher and academic specialising in Australian and Asian art. She was previously the Head of Visual Arts at Creative Australia and Director of the 4A Centre for Contemporary Asian Art, Sydney.
