Cave millipeds of the United States. IV.
A new genus and species from a high altitude cave in Colorado (Diplopoda, Chordeumatida, Tingupidae)<sup>1</sup>

By William A. Shear and David A. Hubbard, Jr.

ABSTRACT

Blancosoma scaturgo, new genus, new species, is a minute, troglobitic chordeumatid millipede assigned here to the Family Tingupidae. Its gonopod structure deviates strongly from that of most other members of the family; it is regarded as the sister taxon of Buotus. Some additional notes are provided on the gonopods of Buotus carolinus Chamberlin.
