Tasmanian voice on national Insurance Council Board

Tasmania has been given a stronger voice on national insurance matters following the appointment of RACT's Chief Insurance Officer Paul Sofronoff to the Insurance Council of Australia's (ICA) Board.

Mr Sofronoff said he was proud to take up the role at an important time for insurance in Australia.

"The ICA is the peak insurance body in Australia, and I am very proud to be a voice for Tasmania in the national debate about insurance, catastrophe mitigation and other important topics," Mr Sofronoff said.

"The recent floods across the east coast of Australia and the north of Tasmania have confirmed the importance of governments investing in preventative measures rather than just reacting after a disaster hits."

RACT Group CEO Mark Mugnaioni congratulated Mr Sofronoff on his appointment, saying it would make sure Tasmanian interests were represented on the national stage.

"RACT prides itself on being Tasmania's only local insurance company, and Paul's appointment to the ICA Board will help us continue to advocate for the best interests of not only our members, but the entire state when it comes to insurance matters.

"Paul's insurance experience and knowledge makes him a huge asset to any organisation he works with and I congratulate him on this appointment."

Mr Sofronoff's appointment will commence on 5 December 2022.
