500 million trees in Europe

Life Terra is a foundation with a mission to enable people to take impactful climate action now.

Plant trees, become a volunteer, trial our education course, organise a restoration project, offer land or compensate your carbon footprint.

Join a planting event

Feel free to reach out to us if you are interested in joining a planting event. We will inform you when there is one near you!

Become a Terra Leader

Volunteers are valuable members of Life Terra. That's why we call them Terra Leaders. As a Terra Leader you are leading planting events and sharing knowledge with your community.

Learn about our Education programme

Life Terra has created a STEM-based, interactive environmental education programme with educational specialists for children ages 8-14. Content on topics such as sustainability, energy transition, climate change, and circular economy will be delivered digitally to classrooms for free.

Offer land

Do you want to plant trees or realise large-scale plantings on your land, but lack the expertise or resources? Offer your land! We will facilitate the tree planting without any costs for you as a landowner. You will be involved throughout the whole process of planting.

Become a partner

Is your organisation already planting trees? We are interested in partnering to accelerate tree plantings in as many places as possible. We will use a separate record to prevent double counting. Contact us to discuss a possible collaboration!

Adopt a tree

Adopting a tree is the most effective climate change option available. You are able to adopt or gift a tree via our platform. This is a good start to compensating your carbon emissions and raising awareness amongst your network.
