Get groovy with knitted suit for your imac!

Called Nana Ware, this artwork is an IMac computer dressed by Nanna, a lovingly knitted coat.

The artist, Dr Dick Quan, resident of Surry Hills, conceived of this work specially for the Gallery 4A annual members open exhibition.

He states: "In a world where the elderly are forgotten and have to please the younger generation".

This exhibition includes artists from all walks of life, including those who are not professional artists alongside recognised artists such as Tim Johnson.

The exhibition launch will take place at 6pm on December 19, 2000. The exhibition will continue until the 23 December.
