

East Kimberley Support Network (EKSAN)

The EKSAN is a collaborative group of agencies providing support services across the East Kimberley to individuals and families.

The EKSAN is one of three programs managed by the Family Support and Well-being Service (FSWS) under Key Assets Australia (KAA).

KAA collaborates with Jungarni Jutiya and Ngnowar Aerwah to deliver these programs, which are funded by the Department of Communities (DOC) as part of the statewide Regional Services Model. This model forms the framework for the Building Safe and Strong Families, Early Intervention, and Family Support (EIFS) strategy.

The East Kimberley region offers a wide range of social and community services for individuals and families facing complex challenges. The EKSAN aims to unify these services by developing a strong, collaborative network of agencies, enabling more effective and earlier support for those in need. EKSAN workers will work closely with clients to develop tailored support plans and connect them to the most appropriate services to address their specific needs.

EKSAN Services

Our workers offer a single-entry point for clients, helping them identify and access the most appropriate services.

We facilitate “warm referrals” by providing one-on-one support to help clients schedule and attend appointments.

Benefits for Service Providers

- Single point of contact (EKSAN worker)
- Prevents duplication of services.
- Supports service coordination and collaboration.
- Partnerships with Aboriginal Community Controlled Organisations.
- Identify barriers or challenges using data collection of service accessibility.
