

AT 75F WE ALL OWN QUALITY!

Our team strives to delight customers through a strong commitment to the quality of our products, technology, and services.

We aspire to continuously improve in all that we do, and constantly exceed expectations, aiming for a zero-defect environment.

This is made possible by:

- Aspiring to always improve our business processes, technologies, systems, products, and services.
- Investing in continuous training and workforce education to improve the key areas of the related functions/operations.
- Identifying and communicating important issues via a feedback loop to prevent passing along defects.
- Strengthening our supply chain to achieve total end-to-end product quality and traceability, and ensure the same level of commitment from our suppliers and partners.
- Meeting all regulatory and environmental requirements and certifications, as and where applicable.

Our commitment to quality is a key pillar of our business operations serving as the foundation of our competitive advantage. It enables the creation of lifecycle value for all, especially our customers, partners, employees, and investors.

We understand that when our promise to quality succeeds, we all win.
