

If You've Done This Recently, You Could Have a Bad Vaccine Reaction

Allie Hogan

January 5, 2021 · 3 min read

Experts say these rare side effects shouldn't stop you from getting the vaccine.

Plastic surgeon Amir Karam, MD, told NBC San Diego this potential side effect shouldn't stand in the way of people getting the vaccine. He pointed out that the dermal filler-related reactions were easily remedied with medical attention and resolved quickly.

And experts also say it's not something you're likely to experience. "This is a very rare side effect, and it's very treatable with antihistamines and prednisone [a type of steroid]," board-certified dermatologist Debra Jaliman, MD, told Health. And for side effects you're more likely to face, The CDC Is Warning You to Prepare For These COVID Vaccine Side Effects.