The FDA Advisory Committee has just recently reported that the new Moderna vaccine is causing allergic reactions in trial participants who have used facial fillers to enhance their features. As the vaccine is administered to more people, we are learning more about different minor reactions that can occur, this is normal. Having performed thousands of cosmetic procedures throughout my career at my practice (Carmel Valley Facial Plastic Surgery and Aesthetic Center in San Diego), I can tell you that these types of reactions are not uncommon and should not be cause for alarm. I have received an influx of questions regarding these reported adverse effects from the COVID-19 vaccine, here are the top-line answers you need to know:
