

5 Reasons to Study History

It will make you a more critical thinker

You'll learn to evaluate the evidence in front of you in order to reach a conclusion.

It will help you to understand the world around you

You'll understand the impact of history on society, develop a greater appreciation of other cultures and develop perspective – ultimately, you'll have a better understanding of why the world is as it is right now!

It will make you a better communicator

You'll learn how to form clear arguments using evidence to support your statements. And you'll have a greater understanding of how and why other opinions exist and how to respect them, even if you disagree with them.

It will make you better at handling data

A useful skill in many careers, history will help you to develop your data handling and processing skills. You'll be able to analyse the data in front of you to reach an evidence-based conclusion.

It will make you better at time management

Whether it's research, coursework or essay-based questions in exams, you'll have lots of opportunities to develop your time management skills!