

CORONA-VIRUS INFORMATION LETTER

Dear Valued Customer,

The recent development related to the spread of the corona-virus globally has raised concern regarding potential impact on brush supply chain. Sajas Group is in regular contact with authorities and partners in order to have the most recent information of the situation. At this time we have not faced supply issues from our partners and our supply operations are running normally. In addition we have done our internal travel and safety measures to mitigate potential impact on Sajas Group personnel.

Our all factories are running with full speed at this moment and we have been working also during weekends to make as many products ready for delivery. Even there are some limitations for travelling, we don't have any problems to organize delivery of the goods.

However we do expect that if the situation prolongs for longer time our supply chain may potentially be effected. We are taking measures to mitigate such risks together with our principals.

We do encourage our customers to take steps accordingly and place orders earlier, and if possible increase order quantity to build further security in supply chain.

In a case of any questions please contact your local sales representative.

Thank you for your understanding and continuous support.
