Enerxia Secures Renewable Energy Supply from San Carlos BioPower Inc.

In line with our mission to help businesses transition to smarter and greener energy solutions, Enerxia secures a power sale agreement with San Carlos BioPower Inc., a key player in the Philippine renewable energy sector specializing in biomass energy generation.

Through this agreement, San Carlos BioPower Inc. will supply clean and reliable biomass energy to Enerxia in support of its growing energy portfolio for commercial and industrial clients. The partnership reflects a shared commitment to delivering sustainable, cost-efficient energy solutions that support both economic progress and environmental responsibility.

This collaboration enables Enerxia to expand its renewable energy reach while supporting local communities and promoting a low-carbon future. The energy supplied through this agreement will help Filipino businesses reduce their dependence on traditional fossil fuels and enjoy long-term savings on electricity costs.

Enerxia's growing network of renewable energy partners supports our continued commitment to helping businesses manage and secure their energy future.
