Concise Retargeting Guide for Classifieds

Classifieds is no stranger to retargeting, but the question is...
...is it always used to its fullest potential?

The image features a woman with long dark hair, wearing a light blue long-sleeved shirt and blue jeans, sitting in a grey armchair and looking at her smartphone. She is surrounded by three floating classified ad cards, each with a white background and rounded corners. The background is a dark purple gradient.

- Hatchback: Features a white car image, a palette icon with a checkmark, the text "Hatchback", "Manual", "$39.9", and a "Contact Dealer" button.
- Remote work: Features a laptop image with "Welcome!" on the screen, a dollar sign icon with a checkmark, the text "Remote work", "Worldwide", "$60k - 80k", and an "Apply now" button.
- Detached House: Features a house image, a location pin icon with a checkmark, the text "Detached House", "Miami, FL", "$230,000", and a "Contact Agent" button.

First, to harness the power of retargeting, you need to know the stats that matter. This will help ensure that your retargeting partners are hitting their agreed goals.

Of course, the ultimate gauges of retargeting success will always be:

- Number of conversions.
- Cost Per Action.

Providers deploy varying models of attribution. There are two main models used to measure conversions:

- Last-click attribution gives full credit for the conversion to the paid traffic provider whose ad was the last one clicked before the conversion.
- Post-click attribution credits the conversion to all paid traffic providers whose ads were clicked within a specified timeframe before the conversion.

There are also:

- Data-driven attribution models that can be opaque as they allocate credit based on an often complex combination of touchpoints or interactions defined by the provider.
