ALAGNA MOUNTAIN RESORT & SPA

A WILD & CHIC REFUGE

As soon as you arrive in Valsesia, traveling along a road without bends and surrounded by dense vegetation, you can smell the scent of wild and pure nature. Small churches and typical stone buildings accompany the course of the river which gurgles mountain melodies and tells the story of the legendary Walser people.

Here stands the Alagna Mountain Resort & SPA, a MIRA Hotel that praises the wild and chic spirit of the place, a few steps away from the paved road of the small and charming village.

And the Walser Stosse starts nearby, an unmistakable walking route between period homes, with the typical stone base surmounted by dark wooden balconies, from which colorful flowers hang and overlooking small, well-kept gardens and vegetable gardens. Raising your eyes, all the majesty of Monte Rosa, easily conquerable thanks to the ski lift, from the top of which is the Monte Rosa Ski Area which unites three Alpine valleys.

In Alagna Im Land, wild chic is a leitmotif, from rafting to free riding, from paragliding to fishing, from cycling to hiking. Attention, wild animals pass by, warns the sign. And in this lies all the essence of a pure, intact, fresh place. Clean air such as is rarely breathed and a calm serenity make this kingdom, in which the poetry of stone dominates, even more enchanting.

The external structure celebrates the spirit of the place, chic and wild, with the typical stone and wood construction and the mountain village structure. A central street leads to the three residences, distributing the internal and external space in a functional way.

A breathtaking view reigns supreme from any balcony or window. You immediately understand that you are not there for a stay, but for an experience. Made of the scent of wood, of an exclusive breakfast, of the warmth of the swimming pool with a view of the mountain walls covered in vegetation, of the pink sunset that brushes the peaks.
