An aerial photograph of Ortigia, Siracuse, Sicily, Italy. The image shows a large, ornate, light-colored stone building with a prominent facade featuring columns and statues. To the right, a large, curved, ancient stone structure, likely the Greek Theatre, is visible. The foreground is a wide, paved square with a few people walking. In the background, other buildings and a church with a dome are visible under a clear blue sky with a few clouds. The word "DESTINATION" is overlaid in large, white, sans-serif capital letters across the center of the image.
