REED DIFFUSERS

Benefits of Reed Diffusers

No Risk of Fire

No Messy Wax Deposits

No External Power is Required

What are reed diffusers and how do they work?

Reed diffusers are the hottest trend right now in home fragancing. They are simple and safe to use; reeds are inserted into a glass bottle of scented diffuser oil, the reeds soak up the scent and emit a pleasant aroma around your home.

How long do reed diffusers last?

There are many factors that contribute to how long the oils last, namely temperature and humidity. However, we have found that our 50ml diffuser oil should last for approximately 2-3 months.

My reed diffuser doesn't smell as strongly as it used to. What can I do?

Overtime the reeds become completely saturated and can become clogged with dust. If you still have oil in the bottle, simply flip the reeds to help give the diffusion process a little boost. If this doesn't help, consider replacing your reeds.

Are Reed Diffusers environmentally friendly?

Our reed diffusers are very environmentally friendly. Unlike candles, they emanate no soot or film onto furniture, walls, and ceilings. Our ingredients are alcohol-free and DPG-free.

Why can't I just re-use my sticks over and over again?

Once the reed sticks are totally saturated, the cells in the reeds eventually become clogged and lose their ability to pull the scent up from the reeds to the room.

ESSENTIAL OILS

100% Pure Essential Oils : Single Oils

Undiluted

No Additives

No Fillers or Bases

No Synthetics

What are essential oils?

Essential oils are concentrated plant extracts that retain the natural scent and flavor, or "essence." Essential oils are obtained through distillation or mechanical methods like cold pressing.

How do essential oils work?

Essential oils are most commonly used in the practice of aromatherapy, in which they are inhaled or diluted and applied to the skin. They may stimulate your sense of smell or have medicinal effects when absorbed.

Are they safe to use?

Essential oils are generally considered safe to inhale or apply to the skin if they've been combined with a base oil. They should not be eaten. If you have a serious health condition or are taking medication, you should discuss their use with your healthcare practitioner.

Specifications

The best way to incorporate aromatherapy into your daily self care routine! Simply add a few drops of essential oil to an aromatherapy diffuser or dilute the liquid with a high-quality carrier oil and apply to the skin. Allow yourself to connect with the benefits of nature.

Roll-on Essential Oils

No Synthetics, Fragrances, Fillers or Toxic Chemicals
Blended with Fractionated Coconut Oil
Pure Therapeutic Grade

Convenience of roll-ons?

Essential oil roll-ons are an amazing option because all the mixing has already been done for you. No risk of spills, no chance of getting the proportion of oils out of whack, they are all ready to go.

Where to apply roll-ons?

Perfume : If you are applying a roll-on simply because you love the aromas, then apply to your pulse points.

Breathe : Best to inhale the oil directly. Apply underneath your nose or to pulse points near the face.

Sleep & Stress : For best results, apply the roll-on to pulse points near or around your face.

Are they safe to use?

Keep out of reach of children. For external use only.

If pregnant, nursing, or under a doctor's care, consult physician before use.

Discontinue use if skin irritation occurs.

CARRIER OILS

All-natural Carrier Oils

Sunflower Oil

Sunflower oil is highly absorbent, and won't clog pores. It's non-irritating for most people, and can be used on all types of skin, including dry, normal, oily, and acne-prone. It has a neutral odor.

Sweet Almond Oil

The oil is lightweight and absorbs easily, and is a great moisturizer for dry skin. Sweet almond oil is one of the most popular carrier oils for skin care. They're full of healthy fats, fiber, phytochemicals, vitamins, and minerals.

Apricot Kernel Oil

Apricot kernel oil is made from apricot seeds. It's an emollient oil high in fatty acids and vitamin E. It absorbs easily into the skin and has a slightly sweet, nutty scent. The oil is thought to help soften and calm irritated, itchy skin.

MCT Oil

As one of the best carrier oil options, MCT gets its name from the structure of its molecules: Medium Chain Triglycerides. Due to its smaller molecular structure, MCT is more digested and absorbed more easily by the human body.

Jobba Oil

Jojoba oil has a delicate, nutty aroma with powerful moisturizing properties. It's thought to closely mimic sebum, the skin's natural oil. Jojoba oil absorbs easily in the skin and doesn't clog pores.

Safflower Oil

Safflower oil is known for its softening, moisturizing, nourishing and soothing properties due to its richness in vitamins E and K as well as omega-6, which makes it a privileged care for dry, delicate, irritated or redness-prone skins.

Specifications

In aromatherapy, Carrier Oils are used to dilute essential oils and help "carry" them onto the skin. Diluting essential oils is a common safety practice due to oil's high potency. Our carrier oils may be used alone or with other oils to help nourish the skin.

Good Night

Good Night body oil can help relax your body and ease your mind. It helps to ease tension and restore the skin while you sleep. It's the perfect way to soothe your skin, melt away stress, and calm your senses before bed.

Lavender

Beyond luxurious aroma, Lavender body oil can quiet your thoughts and relieve tension. Lavender body oil is a deeply hydrating, aromatherapy skin moisturizer developed to deliver relaxation and radiant, nourished skin.

Muscle Relief

From loosening tight muscles to soothing away aches, Muscle Relief body oil's powerfully rejuvenating effect on the body can help decrease inflammation and swelling. Muscle Relief works underneath the skin allowing you to feel brand new again.

CANDLES

Soy Wax Candles

100% Natural Soy Wax Candles

Soy Wax from US Grown Soybeans

Burns Longer than Paraffin Wax

Burns Cleaner and results in Less Soot than Paraffin Wax

Natural Wick made of Cotton & Paper

100% Phthalate Free Fragrance Oils

Benefits of Soy Wax.

- Derived from a legume (soy bean), while paraffin wax is from petroleum.
- Natural and renewable resource.
- Biodegradable and cleans up with plain soap and water.
- Lower melting point than paraffin wax which means that soy candles will burn slow or longer than paraffin candles.
- Burns clean with zero petro-carbon soot

Are your candle wicks safe?

Our candle wick is a flat cotton wick braided with thin paper threads that give the wick a rigid structure without the need for a core. Simple and natural ingredients : cotton & paper.

Specifications

Inspired by a floral garden, our candles use natural ingredients like flowers, plants and trees. Made from 100% natural soy wax with clean scents and a wick made of cotton and paper, our candles burn cooler, cleaner, and longer than traditional paraffin wax candles.

SPICES & HERBS

Sweet and Savory Spices & Herbs

Cinnamon

As a spice, cinnamon is available in powder form or whole, as pieces of bark. It is now the second most popular spice, after black pepper, in the United States and Europe. Cinnamon is used mainly as an aromatic condiment and flavoring additive in a wide variety of cuisines.

Cumin

Cumin is a spice made from the dried seed of a plant known as Cuminum cyminum. It is a typical ingredient in chili powder and is also often found in other spice blends such as garam masala, curry powder, and adobos.

Garlic

Garlic powder is a spice that is derived from dehydrated garlic and used in cooking for flavor enhancement. Garlic powder is a common component of spice mix. It is also a common component of seasoned salt.

Oregano

Dried oregano is the more common form, and some people prefer it because it is more subtle and doesn't overpower dishes as fresh oregano might. The taste is pungent and described as earthy and green. It adds strong flavor to a variety of savory foods.

Rosemary

Rosemary has a strong piney, resinous flavor and can easily take over a dish, so it should be used sparingly. This culinary herb is best known for its use in poultry dishes, soups, spreads, and teas.

Thyme

Thyme is often included in seasoning blends for poultry and stuffing and also commonly used in fish sauces, chowders, and soups. It goes well with lamb and veal as well as in eggs, custards, and croquettes.

PEPPERCORNS

All-natural Whole Peppercorns

Black Peppercorns

Black peppercorns are left on the vine to fully mature, then are picked and dried in the sun or blanched before drying. They have a strong spicy flavor due to the presence of the chemical piperine and varying amounts of essential oil.

Green Peppercorns

Green peppercorns are harvested while immature and unripe, then either air-dried, freeze-dried. They're aromatic, with a fresher, fruitier flavor than white or black pepper, but not nearly as sharp and astringent as black.

White Peppercorns

White peppercorns are the seeds of black peppercorns, soaked to remove the dark colored casings before drying. The resulting flavor is hotter and more pungent than black peppercorns, with a slightly fermented odor.

Szechuan Peppercorns

Unrelated to the pepper family, these are the berries of a prickly ash tree, native to the Szechuan province of southwest China. When chewed they cause a numbing sensation on the tongue. Szechuan pepper is very aromatic, with a scent of anise and a sweet fresh citrus flavor.

Rainbow Peppercorns

Our rainbow peppercorn mix is a four-pepper blend of black, white, green, and pink peppercorns. Rainbow pepper is a colorful way to enjoy the flavors from a combination of peppercorns, adding heat and flavor to a multitude of recipes.

Pink Peppercorns

Not peppercorns at all, but the berries of the shrub originated in Peru. Although mild and sweet, they are quite pungent but not peppery. They are very fruity and sweet with spiciness and flavors of juniper, aniseed and pine.

CHILI PEPPERS

All-natural Hot Chili Peppers

Cayenne Pepper

Cayenne chilies are usually sold as a powder. The word cayenne comes from the city of Cayenne in French Guiana. Cayenne is great in soups and sauces, on pizzas, as well as over meats and seafoods. 30,000 to 50,000 Scoville hot units.

Ancho Chili Pepper

Ancho Chili is a dark smoky chili with a deep rich flavor and mild to medium heat. Their flavor is somewhat sweet and a little raisin like. When fresh they are referred to as poblanos. 1,000 to 1,500 Scoville heat units.

Chipotle Chili Pepper

A chipotle pepper is a smoked, dried jalapeno. As they turn red on the vine, they are plucked and smoked until dried, turning them into chipotle peppers. 2,500 to 8,000 Scoville hot units.

Jalapeno Pepper

A jalapeno pepper is a fruit of the Capsicum pod type. While originating in Mexico, it is now grown worldwide for its popular flavor and mild heat level, which averages around 5,000 Scoville Heat Units. That is hot, but not too hot.

Paprika

It is made of a combination of dried peppers from the Capsicum annum family, then grinding them to a fine, rich red powder. Its flavor varies from mild to pretty robust, but it's never as hot as chili or cayenne, its main purpose is to add flavor and color, more than heat. 250 to 1,000 Scoville heat units.

Red Pepper

Red pepper flakes are made from a mix of peppers from the Capsicum annum family, mostly Cayenne. Seeds are there to add spiciness. The primary use is to achieve heat. 30,000–50,000 Scoville heat units.

Specifications

Chili Peppers are widely used in many cuisines as a spice to add flavor and heat to various dishes. Chili Peppers can be eaten fresh or added whole to your food. When dried they can be finely ground into chili powder for use with barbecue, hot curry, and other spicy sauces.

TEAS

All-natural Signature Teas

Masala Chai

Our Masala Chai tea blend combines premium black tea with cinnamon, cardamom, and ginger. Originating in India, Masala means 'a blend of spices', and chai means 'tea'. So, Masala Chai is literally spiced tea.

Gunpowder

Gunpowder is a classic green tea from China in which each leaf has been rolled into a small round pellet. Its name comes from its resemblance to grains of gunpowder. When blended with spearmint, it becomes Moroccan Mint tea.

English Breakfast

English Breakfast is a full-bodied black tea blend that goes well with a traditional English breakfast. Made from top quality tea leaves, our English Breakfast stays true to the classic. May be enjoyed plain or with a drop of milk.

Earl Grey

Earl Grey is a classic blend of artisan black tea, flavored with bergamot (a citrus fruit). Fresh citrus aroma from the bergamot oil makes Earl Grey perfect for the afternoon. Its taste is often described as bright, refreshing, and bold.

Vanilla Cream

Vanilla Cream Tea is a flavored black tea with vanilla beans and vanilla creme flavor. This black tea is sweet and is rich in antioxidants. It is a natural stress reliever and a good substitute for ice-cream.

Peach Tea

Our juicy Peach black tea is a sweet and mellow blend of black tea, peach pieces, marigold petals and natural peach flavoring. A perfect option for those who enjoy a sweet, floral and fruity tea.

SUPERFOOD POWDER

Organic Superfood Powder

Beet Root Powder

Beet root powder is growing in popularity as a natural health-boosting supplement. Beets generally have an earthy, bitter flavor. Beets can be mixed with water to create a juice, or can be added to smoothies, sauces, or baked goods.

Mesquite Powder

Naturally sweet molasses-like flavor with rich nutty hints similar to carob. It is a tasty addition to smoothies and shakes, coffee, baked goods, and chocolates. The high fiber levels take a long time to assimilate.

Turmeric Powder

Turmeric may be the most effective nutritional supplement in existence. It has gained in popularity in the United States. The colorful and fragrant rhizome adds unique earthy, slightly bitter flavor to foods and beverages.

Cacao Powder

Cacao is known for its healthful benefits. The powder has a rich flavor, and can be added to smoothies, energy bars, herbal beverages, and extracts. The aroma has a slight floral aspect balanced with deep chocolate undertones.

Spirulina Powder

The high concentration of amino acids has made spirulina a popular nutritional supplement. In addition to amino acids, spirulina is also a rich source of numerous other nutrients, including many essential vitamins and minerals.

Maca Powder

Maca root is a nutritional powerhouse. It grows wild in the frigid ground of the Andes mountains thousands of feet above sea level in Peru. Maca root can be blended into smoothies, or incorporated into baking recipes.

PROTEIN POWDER

Organic Protein Powder

Hemp Protein

Hemp is a complete protein, containing all nine essential amino acids, plus fiber, healthy fats and minerals. It has an earthy, nutty taste and is often added to shakes or smoothies to boost protein intake.

Whey Protein

Whey protein provides substantial amounts of the essential amino acids. It can be added to liquids or soft foods, or blended with ice and fresh fruit to make a smoothie.

Pea Protein

Pea protein is a great source of protein and iron. It can aid muscle growth, weight loss and heart health. It is typically used as smoothies and shakes and is a great fit for almost any diet since it's naturally vegan and hypoallergenic.

Brown Rice Protein

Brown rice protein powder is made by separating the carbohydrate from the protein. It contains enough of the nine essential amino acids to be a great plant-based muscle-builder.

Brown Flax Seeds

Since the omega-3 essential fatty acids that flax provides, flax is one of the most widely accepted of the herbal health foods. It can be sprinkled on salads or added to baked goods, smoothies, and other culinary dishes.

Chia Seeds

Chia seeds are popular in the United States for its antioxidant and fiber content and as a high mucilage superfood that provides Omega 3 fatty acids. It is best eaten with cereal, added to smoothies, or made into fruity beverages.

EDIBLE FLOWER SEEDS

Grow Salad Topper from Seeds

Nasturtium

Nasturtium plants are easy to grow. Their bold blooms and edible leaves, flowers, and seedpods make them an especially fun flower plant and a favorite companion plant in the garden.

Borage

Growing borage provides cucumber-flavored leaves for tea and other beverages as well as bright, starry blue flowers for decorating salads. All parts of the plant, except the roots, are flavorful and have culinary or medicinal uses.

Calendula

Calendula is a plant known as pot marigold, bearing an edible orange or yellow daisy-like flower. They brighten herbal tea blends and make a tasty calendula tea infusion.

Lavender

A relative of mint, the lavender plant is adorned with violet flowers and green or pale grey leaves. Both the flowers and leaves can be eaten and have a pleasant yet slightly bitter flavor.

Viola

Violas are edible flowers and eaten as garnishes and salad ingredients. They can also be candied for a frosted effect, or used to decorate cakes or other confections.

Cornflower

With a neutral flavor, cornflower really is the most versatile edible flower and is excellent for both savory and sweet dishes. Use whole flowers or separate the florets for a punch of vivid blue, pink or aubergine.

Specifications

Edible flower seeds help to add various unique flavors to your dishes. They can be used as simple garnish to add various colors to your plate or added to salads to blend together various flavors.

LAVENDER
Munstead-type
Lavandula angustifolia

YOUR LOGO

Minimum 100 seeds ⌘ Days 100-110 ⌘ Perennial

LAVENDER, Munstead-type

Lavandula angustifolia

LIFE CYCLE : Perennial

SOWING : (Transplant: recommended) Sow seeds 1/8" deep in a flat 8-10 weeks before the last frost. Seeds require some light for germination. Transplant to individual pots when the plants are large enough to handle. Transplant to the field in the spring after the last frost. Plant shallowly, so the soil line is just above the top roots of the plant. Space plants 12-18" apart in rows 24-36" apart. In late fall, clip plants back to below the flower stems and mulch heavily. During the second year, cuttings can be taken from August-November, when the stems are semi-hardened, but before they have been subjected to a hard freeze.

(Direct Seed) Not recommended.

GERMINATION : 14-21 days at 65-70°F

LIGHT : Sun

SOIL : Plant in a light, well-drained, gravelly soil. Lavender likes a protected, south-facing location. Soil that is slightly acidic to slightly alkaline is most desirable. If the soil pH falls below 6.5, the soil should be treated with lime to adjust the pH to no more than 8.3.

MATURITY : 100-110 days

HARVEST : (Edible flowers) Harvest the flower spikes on a dry, warm, sunny day just as the flowers are about to open. Hang to dry in a dry, well-ventilated space out of direct sunlight.

HERB SEEDS

Growing Fresh Herbs from Seeds

Greek Oregano

One of my absolute favorites in the herb garden is Greek oregano. It is savored for its strong aroma and spicy intense flavor and is prominently used in Greek, Italian, or Spanish cuisine in homemade pizzas, tomato sauces, soups, and more.

Genovese Basil

Genovese basil is grown for its many culinary uses. Fresh or dried, basil leaves are an essential ingredient in many Italian, Greek, and Asian dishes. They are perfect for making pesto or Caprese salad fresh from the garden. Edible Flowers

Sweet Marjoram

Growing marjoram is a great way to add both flavor and fragrance in the kitchen or garden. Marjoram plants are also great for attracting butterflies and other beneficial insects to the garden, making them ideal as companion plantings.

Italian Parsley

Italian parsley adds a fresh flavor and color that makes the dish. Growing Italian parsley in the garden or in a window box will allow you to harness the lively flavor of this plant. You can even use Italian parsley roots in salads or sautés.

Dill

Dill is a popular herb in the kitchen, flavoring everything from pickles to fish. Gourmets know that you can't beat fresh dill for the flavor. The best way to have the very freshest dill possible is by growing dill in your own garden.

Common Chive

Chives are a perennial member of the onion family with beautiful edible flowers. Plus, they're a wonderful companion plant that helps deter pests. Its grass-like hollow leaves have a mild onion flavor and are common in salads and dips.

DILL

Anethum graveolens

LIFE CYCLE : Annual

SOWING : (Direct Seed: recommended) Sow in spring as soon as the soil can be worked. Sow seeds 1/8 - 1/4" deep, 1/4 - 1/2" apart, in rows at least 3" apart. Thinning is not necessary. Successive sowings can be done every three weeks to harvest fresh greens continuously.

(Transplant) Dill can be started indoors in containers or cell trays. Sow 3-5 seeds per cell. Transplant out using 2-4" spacing in rows at least 4" apart.

GERMINATION : 7-21 days at 65-70°F

LIGHT : Sun

SOIL : Well drained, sandy soil that is slightly acidic.

MATURITY : 40-45 days

HARVEST : Foliage may be harvested once the plants have become established right up to flowering. Harvest seed heads just as the seeds begin to turn a golden brown.
