

Vitaliy Oryshchenko

Senior Econometrician, London

Dr Vitaliy Oryshchenko is a Senior Econometrician based in RBB's London office.

Vitaliy's expertise lies in econometric theory and modelling as well as statistical data science. He holds a PhD in Economics (Econometrics) from the University of Cambridge.

Vitaliy joined RBB in January 2023. He holds a PhD in Economics (Econometrics) from the University of Cambridge, had previously held research and teaching positions at the Universities of Oxford, Manchester, and Royal Holloway, and worked as a Data Scientist at the Financial Conduct Authority and as a Senior Econometrician at Experian.

Vitaliy has research expertise in econometric theory and mathematical statistics with a particular focus on nonparametric statistics and kernel smoothing, information-theoretic approaches to econometrics, and time series analysis and forecasting. He is proficient with most contemporary econometric methods including regression analysis for causal inference and prediction.

His recent non-academic work prior to joining RBB includes developing models for consumer credit delinquency forecasting using a combination of micro and macro data and analysing the geographical access to cash coverage in the UK.

Vitaliy's native language is Ukrainian, and he is fluent in English.