DESCRIPTION

The Maltese Falcon is a 88m/289ft sailing yacht that boasts three revolutionary DynaRig-designed masts, making her one of the most recognizable superyachts in the world. She was built by Perini Navi in 2006 and features interior and exterior designs by Ken Freivokh. The yacht has received critical acclaim from the yachting industry and global media, winning 10 prestigious awards. The exterior of the yacht offers a variety of living spaces that merge seamlessly with the interior and can accommodate both formal and informal occasions. One of the most impressive exterior features is a projector screen positioned behind the lower sail, which doubles up as an outdoor cinema screen, and is the largest of its kind to be found on any superyacht.

The interior of the Maltese Falcon is equally impressive and features a range of colorful finishes, balancing contemporary artwork with more traditional furnishings. The communal and guest spaces are composed of high quality leather, wood, steel, and glass. The layout of the yacht is well-balanced with form and function, featuring an atrium amidships that unites the accommodation on the lower deck and the lobby on the bridge deck. The yacht's six guest cabins, including a master cabin, a VIP suite, and four doubles, are situated on the lower deck and are complete with all the entertainment options found in the master and VIP cabins.

The Maltese Falcon provides a range of leisure facilities, including a dedicated reading room, a fully-equipped gymnasium, and a collection of water toys and tenders for guests who prefer to entertain themselves on the water. The yacht's performance is outstanding, making timely passages whilst delivering a thrill to all of those on board. The yacht has a cruising speed of 16 knots, a maximum speed of 19 knots, and a range of up to 4,600 nautical miles from her 81,300-liter fuel tanks at 14 knots.

Overall, the Maltese Falcon is a luxury yacht that combines form and function, providing guests with comfortable and functional living spaces, a range of entertainment options, and exceptional performance. She is an iconic yacht that turns heads wherever she cruises and is maintained to an exacting standard with regular refits and upgrades.
