DESCRIPTION

The 72-meter custom motor yacht, AXIOMA, was built in 2013 by Dunya Yachts. Initially known as "Project Red Square," the yacht features a luxurious interior designed by the renowned Alberto Pinto and exterior styling by Sterling Scott.

As the first build from Dunya Yachts, AXIOMA showcases the shipyard's commitment to excellence in craftsmanship, engineering, and materials.

The exterior design of AXIOMA is the work of Diana Scott of Sterling Scott. The yacht's four main outdoor areas are seamlessly integrated, providing guests with the ultimate outdoor living experience. The pool on the main deck is perfect for daytime lounging, while the alfresco dining area on the same level is ideal for lunch. As the sun sets, guests can unwind in the bridge deck's spa pool with a swim-up bar. Finally, the forward deck offers a secluded lounge and dining area for intimate evening gatherings.

The late Alberto Pinto designed AXIOMA's interior with a contemporary beach house style, avoiding the typical formal and flashy hotel-style decor. Pinto utilized light-colored woods and natural fabrics, such as straw and leather, to create a bright and airy summer atmosphere. The two-level open mezzanine aft of the main salon, which connects an upper-level seating area and bar, adds to the yacht's sense of space and light. The neutral color palette is accented by bold splashes of color, creating a tranquil and inviting atmosphere.

AXIOMA's sleeping quarters mirror the design features of the upper living areas. The master suite features neutral walls with pops of blue, and large windows and a circular skylight flood the room with natural light. In a unique twist, the five additional staterooms – including a VIP suite and two doubles and two convertible twin cabins – are located on the main deck, allowing guests to enjoy large windows. Each guest suite features its own distinct color scheme.

AXIOMA offers a wide range of leisure options for guests, including a sun deck for summer parties, a media room for private gatherings, and a 3D cinema room for movie nights.
