Definitions

Flat rate of interest ? the rate that is calculated by dividing the total interest payable on the Total Advances by the Total Advances
Annual interest rate	26.23%	Fixed for the whole term of the contract being	10 Months
Total interest charges	$11.00	This is the total amount of the interest charges payable under the contract
	10 % (Equivalent Flat rate)
Method of charging interest
Interest charges are calculated and charged at the end of each month by multiplying the average unpaid daily balance for the preceding month by a daily interest rate. The daily interest rate is calculated by dividing the annual interest rate by 365.

CREDIT FEES AND CHARGES

The following credit fee(s) and charge(s) (which are not included in the initial unpaid balance) are, or may become, payable under, or in connection with, the contract.

Your credit contract may allow the creditor to vary this/these fee(s) and charge(s).

$ none

Administration costs and fees payable on full prepayment are disclosed under the full prepayment heading.

CONTINUING DISCLOSURE

The creditor must provide you with a six monthly statement. The statement will give you information about your account. Further statements will be provided on written request by you to the creditor.

WHAT COULD HAPPEN IF YOU FAIL TO MEET YOUR COMMITMENTS

Default interest charges and default fees

In the event of a default in payment and while the default continues you must pay the default interest charges. In the event of a breach of the contract or on the enforcement of the contract, the default fees specified below are payable. Your credit contract may allow the creditor to vary these fees and charges.

Default interest is the sum of the Annual Interest Rate + 5% per annum. Default interest will be charged on any overdue amounts, payable from the due date until the relevant overdue amount is paid. Interest at the annual interest rate will continue to accrue on all other amounts payable under the contract.

Default fees: $10.00

FULL PREPAYMENT

If you pay the unpaid balance in full before the final payment is due (full prepayment), you may be required to pay a fee or charge to compensate the creditor for any loss resulting from the full prepayment. The creditor may have suffered a loss if the creditor's current interest rate is lower than the interest rate applying to your original consumer credit contract. You may also have to pay the creditor's administrative costs relating to the full prepayment.

The amount you may have to pay to compensate the creditor for the loss is calculated using the formula prescribed in regulation 9 of the Credit Contracts and Consumer Finance Regulations 2004.

STATEMENT OF RIGHT TO CANCEL

The Credit Contracts and Consumer Finance Act 2003 gives you a right for a short time after the terms of this contract have been disclosed to you to cancel the contract.

How to cancel

If you want to cancel this contract you must give written notice to the creditor by-

- (a) giving notice to the creditor or an employee or agent of the creditor; or
- (b) posting the notice to the creditor or an agent of the creditor; or
- (c) e-mailing the notice to the creditor's e-mail address; or
- (d) sending the notice to the creditor's fax number.

Time Limits for cancellation

If the disclosure documents are handed to you directly you must give notice that you intend to cancel within 5 working days after you receive the documents.

If the disclosure documents are sent to you by electronic means (for example, email) you must give notice that you intend to cancel within 7 working days after the electronic communication is sent.

If the documents are mailed to you, you must give the notice within 9 working days after they were posted.

Saturdays, Sundays, and national public holidays are not counted as working days.

What you may have to pay if you cancel

If you cancel the contract the creditor can charge you -

- (a) the amount of any reasonable expenses the creditor had to pay in connection with the contract and its cancellation (including legal fees and fees for credit reports, etc); and
- (b) interest for the period from the day you received the advance until the day you repay the advance.

This statement only contains a summary of your rights and obligations in connection with the right to cancel. If there is anything about your rights or obligations under the Credit Contracts and Consumer Finance Act 2003 that you do not understand, if there is a dispute about your rights, or if you think that the creditor is being unreasonable in any way, you should seek legal advice immediately.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SUFFER UNFORESEEN HARDSHIP

If you are unable to reasonably keep up your payments or other obligations because of illness, injury, loss of employment, the end of a relationship, or other reasonable cause, you may be able to apply to the creditor for a hardship variation.

To apply for a hardship variation, you need to:

- (a) make an application in writing; and
- (b) explain your reason(s) for the application; and
- (c) request one of the following:
 - ~ an extension of the term of the contract (which will reduce the amount of each payment due under the contract); or
 - ~ a postponement of the dates on which payments are due under the contract (specify the period for which you want this to apply); or
 - ~ both of the above; and
- (d) give the application to the creditor.

Do this as soon as possible. If you leave it for too long, the creditor may not have to consider your application.

The creditor will not agree to any extension that extends the repayment date past the term of the Policy. Any application will likely result in cancellation of the Policy.

Should the dispute remain unresolved, you can make a complaint to the independent dispute resolution scheme listed in your Insurance documents. This is a free service and can help you resolve any disagreement that you may have with the creditor.
